CROSS RIVERS STATE BASELINE EXERCISE ON PRIMARY HEALTH CARE WORKERS

1.0 Introduction

Efficient healthcare systems are crucial for achieving universal health coverage, managing an aging population, and ensuring financial stability and long-term sustainability. Healthcare efficiency refers to maximizing desired outcomes (like patient health and satisfaction) with the least number of resources (time, money, and effort). It involves optimizing processes to minimize waste and maximize value. This report presents the findings of the baseline exercise mapping the number and duty stations of primary health care (PHC) workers across Cross River State. The study aims to develop a multi-year, cost-worker recruitment and deployment plan to address identified staffing gaps. This initiative is essential for strengthening the health workforce and improving healthcare service delivery.

1.1 Background

Management of human resources for health has been one of the major challenges facing the health sector, especially the primary health sector. Critical gaps in the workforce and maldistribution of the workforce often constitute a cog in the wheel of effective and efficient service delivery. The fragmented nature of management and its political interference do form part of the bottlenecks towards addressing identified challenges.

1.2 Objectives The primary objectives of this baseline exercise are to:

- Conduct a comprehensive enumeration of primary health care workers in Cross River State
- Identify and map health worker duty stations across the 18 Local Government Areas (LGAs).
- Assess health workers' distribution, qualifications, and specialization to determine staffing gaps.
- Develop a multi-year, costed health-worker recruitment and deployment plan to address deficiencies.
- Provide policy recommendations for sustainable workforce planning and improved health outcomes.

1.3 Scope of the Baseline Mapping Exercise

This mapping only considered the workforce in government-owned primary health care facilities in Cross River State

1.4 Methodology A mixed-methods approach was used to ensure a comprehensive analysis:

- Data Collection: Enumeration of health workers, facility visits, and stakeholder consultations.
- GIS Mapping: Visualization of health worker distribution by LGA to pinpoint disparities.
- Gap Analysis: Patient-health worker ratios, area-specific shortages, and deployment imbalances are assessed.
- Financial Analysis: Estimating recruitment, training, and deployment budgetary requirements.

2.0 Situational Analysis

2.1 Primary Healthcare System and Human Resources

The health workforce has been one of the major challenges of the Primary health care system in Cross River State. While there is a problem of general acute shortage of health workforce to man the 1,042 primary health care facilities in the State, there is also a problem of maldistribution of the workforce where health facilities in urban areas are often manned by many staff even beyond the required capacity, those in rural areas struggle with only one or two personnel. The paucity of nurses/midwives in the workforce is also a challenge, as most of the facilities do not have any of this workforce cadre, this has been affecting maternal health service delivery at the primary health care level.

A total of 2, 200 health workers were identified across the 1, 040 primary healthcare facilities in the state. There is also a notable gender and professional imbalance, with shortages in key health specializations such as maternal and child health services.

2.1.1 Government owned Public Health Facilities in the State

As depicted in Figure 1 below, there are a total of 1,042 government-owned PHCs distributed across the 18 LGAs of the State. The distribution, as depicted in Figure 1, shows that Yala LGA has the highest number (121) of public PHCs while Etung has the least (31). Out of the 1,042 government-owned PHCs.

2.1.2 PHC Facility Density in Cross River State

Health facility density refers to the number of health facilities (in this case public PHCs) per 10,000 population.

It is an important indicator of outpatient service access. The state has a Public PHC density of 1.2 implying that for every 10,000 population in the State, one public PHC is serving the population. The LGA-specific result depicted in Figure 2 below shows that Yala LGA has the highest facility density of 4.8 while Etung has the lowest of 1.26.

2.1.3 Current PHC Workforce in Cross River State

The 1,042 PHC facilities across the State are manned by a total of 2,200 staff. As shown below there are no staff for the biometric engineers, medical doctors and physiotherapist cadres in the State.

2.2 Staffing Gap Analysis and Findings

In Cross River State, Nigeria, there are significant health staffing gaps, particularly at the primary healthcare level, with a shortage of nurses and midwives, and a need for an upgraded registry to address workforce gaps.

The state government acknowledges the challenges faced by primary health care facilities and is focused on revitalizing them to improve service delivery. The decay in primary health care services and the overall functioning of the health system in Cross River State has led to poor health status of people in the state.

Cross River State has a shortfall of 8, 800 health workers, particularly in nursing, midwifery, and community health services. Rural LGAs experience high health worker attrition due to inadequate infrastructure and lack of incentives.

In some PHC facilities, the patient-health-worker ratio exceeds recommended standards, negatively impacting service delivery. The commissioner of health in Cross River State emphasized the importance of a comprehensive and updated registry for recruitment of professionals in different medical fields to enhance service delivery and address workforce gaps.

3.0 Recruitment/ Deployment plan and Costing

This section presents the recruitment plan of the State, taking into consideration the projected population growth and worker retirements, the state needs to recruit 8, 800 new health workers over the next five years. This population growth and the estimated number of workers due for retirement between 2025 and 2029 will put considerable pressure on the primary health workforce in the State in the future and have been considered in this requirement plan. The annual population increase was estimated to increase the staffing gap by 3 workers annually in rural areas, and by 4 workers annually in urban areas to meet the new additions to the population. These gaps are already captured as part of the general staff gap analysis.

3.1 Recruitment Strategy

The shortage of doctors is expected to continue over the next 15 years, leading to an increased reliance on nurse practitioners (NPs) and physician assistants (PAs) to deliver primary care.

The State plans to employ the following strategies to fill the existing worker gap in the PHCs. These strategies include:

- i. Staff re-distribution. This will involve transferring staff from duty stations where they are surplus to duty stations with a shortage of such personnel.
- ii. Opening the vacancy to existing qualified health workers in secondary healthcare facilities in the State for voluntary conversion.

- iii. When healthcare professionals have multiple opportunities to consider, we stand out as an attractive option with competitive salaries, creative perks, and an attractive suite of benefits.
- iv. The Cross River State Government is building a strong social media presence for the Ministry of Health through which helpful information is provided and linked to various social media blogs.
- v. Partnering with educational institutions is another productive way to source healthcare professionals. By collaborating with colleges, universities, medical schools and community health colleges, we can build talent.
- vi. Recruitment of the outstanding gap through recruitment calls from externally qualified candidates after implementing the above strategies.

3.2 Rural vs Urban Deployment Plan

The PHC Workers Deployment Plan by Classification of Duty Station presented in Table 5 below shows that more of the recruited staff will be deployed to the rural areas since a substantial proportion of the PHCs are located there. The rural areas shall receive a deployment of 6,708 PHC workers after being recruited, while only 2,172 will be deployed to the urban areas.

3.3 Multi-Year Costed PHC Recruitment and Deployment Plan: A structured approach is required to bridge the staffing gap. The following is our States phased plan to bridge the staffing gaps:

As depicted in Table 6 below, the state will require about ₦1.1 billion in 2025, ₦1 billion in 2026, ₦953 million in 2027, ₦834 million in 2028, and ₦777 million in 2029 to recruit the required primary healthcare workers from 2025 to 2029, train and deploy them, pay them minimum wage and allowances, and provide necessary supplies and work tools/equipment to enable them to do their jobs effectively.

4.0 Policy Recommendations

Based on the findings of the baseline exercise, the following recommendations were made.

- i. Surplus PHC workers in facilities with surpluses should be redistributed to the facilities with shortages.
- ii. Cross River State government should increase budgetary allocation to the primary health sector to address the massive human resource gap identified in the system.
- iii. Cross River State government should centralize the management of primary health care activities to the primary health care development agency in line with the principle of Primary Health Care Under One Roof (PHCUOR).
- iv. Introduce rural posting allowances and career progression incentives for health workers in underserved areas.
- v. Strengthen pre-service and in-service training programs for continuous professional development
- vi. Establish a digital health workforce database for real-time monitoring and planning.
- vii. Leverage support from development partners to enhance recruitment efforts

5.0 Conclusion

The findings of this baseline exercise highlight the urgent need for strategic health worker recruitment and deployment in Cross River State. By implementing the proposed multi-year plan and bridging critical workforce gaps, the state can enhance primary health care service delivery. Strong government commitment and stakeholder collaboration will be essential to achieving these objectives.
